

Zacheus

Edited/Arranged by The Solo Committee

words/music : Susan Mack

*I can imagine him that hot and dusty day.
Despised by all those people upon whom he'd pray
For taxes so much more than whatever they had due
And yet he longed to see him, to see Christ Jesus too.*

Chorus

*Oh Zacheus can you see from there,
That the Master's eyes are full of care.
That even one so short of height is worthy of the Master's might Even one who did much wrong, can find a way above the throng.*

*And so he climbed up in a tree, a sycamore,
I picture him out on a limb, but maybe that's just lore.
At any rate we know this much, that soon the Master came.
He stopped and looked right up at him and called to him by name.*

Chorus

*Come down Zacheus for with you I will abide.
With joy he came down right away--what an honor, oh what pride!
Did Zacheus feel his goodness then or sense his purity?
Did the Master's actions give this man the peace of dignity?*

Chorus

*I guess the people said how good can Jesus be?
He's gone to be a guest with that old sinner from the tree.
But it didn't phase Christ Jesus, and Zacheus stood and told,
The half my goods I give the poor--from whom I've taken restore fourfold*

Final Chorus

*Oh Zacheus this is your blessed day,
Salvation and peace have come to you in this way.
For Even one so short of height is worthy of the Master's might,
Even one who did much wrong can find the way above the throng.
Even one so short of height is worthy to express what's right.
Even one who did much wrong, can find that all to God belong.*
